

it is imperative that one stops this endangerment to our country. Sinclair is one of many examples of ownership of local channels that forces their political propaganda on America through ownership. Remote ownership is bad for the communities and bad for America.